

I would like to express my feeling that the FCC should not implement any proposal that would make it easier for companies to violate my rights to telephone privacy.